

LIBRARY NEWS AND NOTES from Mary Rice, Circuit Court Law Library, September 2007

E-FILING-COMING SOON TO A CIRCUIT COURT NEAR YOU--In last month's Bar Association newsletter, Jim Gorney inserted an announcement about electronic filing, which will be mandatory at the Circuit Court for Anne Arundel County effective September 27, 2007. See "An Overview of the Circuit E-Filing Plan," by Jonathan P. Kagan, in the December 2006 issue of the AA Bar Association's (AABA) newsletter, The Barrister. The homepage is located at:

<http://www.aabar.org/>

On the homepage, click on "the barrister," which takes you to an archive of 2006 and 2007 newsletters. Under 2006, click the link for December and the newsletter will download in PDF. The article begins on page 3. If you do not have Adobe Reader installed on your computer, there is a button on the newsletter archive page that will enable you to download and install it.

For more information, see the Electronic Filing Project page on the Anne Arundel County Circuit Court's website:

If you are unfamiliar with electronic filing, scroll down to the Frequently Asked Questions.

N.B. Lexis.com access--As of September 2007, there will be a change in how you access Lexis on the law library computers. I will put instructions at each terminal. Please see me if you have any questions at all about this.

FREE MARTINDALE-HUBBELL SETs, 2004 and 2005--First come, first served. Please e-mail, call or see law librarian about pick-up.

LAW LIBRARY'S ONLINE CATALOG---You can check the law library's online catalog from any computer with internet access. It is searchable by keyword, title, author and subject. Find specific titles or a list of books on a particular topic. Go to the library website at:

<http://www.charlescountylawlibrary.com/>

Click on "Online Catalog." The website also has links to useful state and local websites, an archive of past monthly newsletters, and lists of selected new acquisitions.

INTERNET RESOURCES

From Tom Mighell's Internet Legal Research Weekly -- July 8, 2007

"American Legal Ethics Library-- Cornell's ethics site continues to be one of the best resources for ethics information on the Internet. The layout and content provided is pretty basic: you get access to ethics codes and rules nationwide, as well as commentary on the laws governing lawyers, on a state-by-state basis."

"Basic Legal Citation: Cornell Legal Information Institute offers this Web site on legal citation by Peter Martin. It provides rules, commentary and examples based on the Harvard Bluebook as well as the ALWD (Association of Legal Writing Directors) Citation Manual, and was most recently revised in May 2007."

From Tom Mighell's Internet Legal Research Weekly -- August 12, 2007

"National Institute of Mental Health--One of the many great resources of the National Institutes of Health, one of the missions of NIMH is 'reducing the burden of mental illness and behavioral disorders through research on mind, brain and behavior.' In addition to the many things you can learn about the Institute itself, you probably will find most of the valuable resources under the Health Information tab. There you can view basic information on several mental health topics -- Anxiety Disorders, ADD, Autism, Bipolar Disorder, Eating Disorders, Panic Disorder, Schizophrenia, and more. You can also download or order publications from the Institute."
